

ASTRONOMY AND CODOLOGY

I threw a pillow at the door

It stopped and fell upon the floor

The wife brought me in a cup of tea

I cared no more for gravity.

Pope Urban and Galileo looked up to see the stars

In Saint Stephen Hawking's name said the Pontiff I can see planet Mars

No No replied the astrophysicist

You can't see that far you're p...ssed

Yet forty million miles away a little green man

With a telescope

Got a beautifully clear image of the Blessed Pope

Oh no Coxy he cried with a curse that Planet Earth

Out there's the centre of the Universe.

Can we go to that planet tomorrow said Coxy I've

Not been that far for countless aeons

Oh no said the little green man sternly they're

Trying to blow it to smithereons.
